Duvel
Abv 8.5%
£4.75

Belgians acquired a taste for British ales after British soldiers introduced their beers to Belgium during World War I. Brewer Albert Moortgat used a strain of Scottish yeast to create a beer commemorating the end of the War in 1918, which he initially called 'Victory Ale' before one of his friends, a local shoemaker, described the beer as 'nen echten Duvel' or 'a true Devil' during a tasting. The beer has been perfected over time and is bottle conditioned over a 90 day period giving it a reputation of one of the best beers in the world ever.

Viru - Estonian
Abv 5%
£4.75

With a light hoppy palate and a refreshing pilsner style, Viru is unique not only aesthetically, but also in terms of drinkability.

Anchor
Brotherhood
Abv 5.6%
£4.75

A spin-off from Anchor's flagship Steam beer, Brotherhood is dry-hopped with Citra and Nelson Sauvin hops for a quite unique combination. The result is a copper coloured brew with aromatic hints of citrus and mint. It has a smooth, full-bodied malt flavour, with a lingering, fresh hop finish.

Lawn Mower
Abv 4.8%
£4.75

This is Swedish lager. The very first release from the refreshingly experimental Backyard Brewery in Falkenberg, is a 'lawn mower' beer – the term used for a crisp, pale and light tasting lager, the kind of beer you drink on a hot summer's day after working hard in the back yard – except this one comes with bags of additional attitude. It's loud and noisy, but the neighbours won't mind (just as long as you invite them round to share one).

Backyard
Brew-bee17
Abv 4.7%
£4.75

Incoming! The Bee 17 turned out pretty much as you would expect a pilsnerstyle lager from the Backyard Brewery in Sweden to. While lagering the brewmaster bombards the brew with hops giving the beer its final profile. The grassy Saaz battles flowery Willamette for your nose's attention, giving it a pleasurable sting in the tail. No wonder there's a real buzz about this beer.

Eden Mill
shipwreck
Abv 6.2%
£4.75

This flavoursome IPA is big and hoppy with lots of sweet tropical fruit notes. It's moderately bitter with mellowed hop aromas due to a lengthy conditioning. The refreshing, tropical fruit aroma with a mellow floral hop character leads to a dense, hoppy body that mellows into a gentle, sweet finish.

Beer in Scotland was traditionally categorised in shillings, according to the amount of tax charged per hogshead - a giant barrel of which contained 42 pints. 40/- ale was a very light beer often supplied to farmhands. 50/- and 60/- beers were also reasonably light and mild. 70/-, 80/- and 90/- were progressively stronger, export-quality beers. The shilling system continued to be used to indicate the beers' quality and was legally recognised in 1914.

Not surprisingly, this is a wonderfully honed, highly perfected product, created according to the strict Bavarian Purity Law of 1516.
